ARCHITECTURAL DESCRIPTION:

This transitional Georgian/Federal dwelling is a five bay, 2 story structure with large corbelled brick chimneystacks at either end. The windows are 12/12 sash and later period shutters have been added sporadically to the windows. The entrance is surrounded by two paneled pilasters and surmounted by an extremely heavy architrave and cornice cap. There is a slight transom located directly underneath the architrave. The foundation is stone. The eaves have been altered. With the addition of an extended overhang supported by heavy bracketing. It is not readily ascertainable if the alterations have been extended to the roofline itself. [Note: Preceding description transcribed from 1983 survey form]
